

I think further analysis is in order. How much will this drive up ticket prices? Will this increase in cost lead passengers to drive instead of fly? Will the shift from flying to driving lead to traffic deaths of people who would have been safer aboard an aircraft?